

Access the Elementor Settings area. You won't need to use this area much or at all.

Return to this main "Insert Widget" view. Click this after you've finished editing.

Search for widgets to insert to your page.

Click and drag these widgets over onto your page.

Click this to close Elementor and return to the dashboard or page.

Change the screen size (desktop, tablet, mobile) to see how your content will look for different browsers. You can change some Elementor styles based on screen size too!

Access saved templates, insert pre-built content or even save your current page as a template to insert again on a new page later on.

This button turns green when you need to save changes made to the current page. Click this to save.

Click this to edit Column settings (padding, colors, background, border, etc.). You can also duplicate, delete or resize this column from here. Columns can be dragged to move around.

A section is basically a "Row" that contains multiple columns. You can add more columns/widgets to a section. You can drag sections up and down around the page. You can drag new widgets to sections.

This is a "Text Editor" widget. The blue border and buttons are visible when you hover your mouse over it. Click this to edit the text. You can also press the copy button to duplicate it.

These are Elementor widgets. Hover your mouse over them to see the outline, edit, copy and delete buttons.

This appears when you click on a "Text Widget" to edit it. As you change values below it will reflect in the live preview.

Change between tags here to access additional settings. "Style" lets you change font face, colors and backgrounds. "Advanced" lets you change borders, paddings, margins and other advanced settings. Most widgets have similar tab layout. Toggle between them to see all available options.

Normal WordPress text editor is here. Insert any content, media or shortcodes you need.

This appears when you click on a "Column" to edit it. As you change values below it will reflect in the live preview.

You can set background image, color, borders, responsive options and much more for a column.

henderit lacinia, elementum in, pretium sed, nulla. Disse mollis augue sit amet duSuspendisse dolor pede, tincidunt quis, pulvinar eu, ultrices nec[...]

Learn More

You can drag a column to a new location, duplicate a column, add a new column next to this one or delete it.